DAVIS THEATRE.

A Big Five Act Vaudeville Show and Our Mutual Girl, Features for Mon-

The show booked for this theatre the first half of next week promises to be one of the best bills of the season in the vaudeville. The headliner is acts on the American stage today; best work of Engene Walter, who wrote The Easiest Way, Paid in Full. The Wolf, and The Trail of the Lonesdes being mystifying this act is full of comedy. The different antics he puts his subjects through causes roars of laughter all the time he is on the stage. The Carroll Gillette trio come next with a comedy risely acrobatic act, doing many surprising feats in the acrobatic line; Eilliott and Elliett have the best singing, talking and dancing act seen here for some time.

Their dancing is mostly of the tange and a sensational whirlwind rag dance Their dancing is mostly of the tange and a sensational whirlwind rag dance the costumes for which are the very levest tango gowns from Paris with colored wigs to match. This will be the first time that those latest tango creations have been seen in Norwich. Ferris and Jordan do an Italian singing and talking act that is in a class by itself, and Mascoff does a singing and Russian dancing specialty the like comedy role; Florence Rockwell gives of which has never been seen here, a fine portrayal of the difficult role of of which has never been seen here. The feature photoplay for Monday will be Our Mutual Girl, number eight. In this release we see New York in the grip of a blinzard with the traffic suspended; also we see Margaret dressing dolls for New York's crippled children. These are only two of the many interesting features of Our Mutual Girl this week. The other pictures inciude The Pursuer Pursued, an Amer-ican western drawa; A Working Girl's Romance, a beautiful Reliance drama and A False Beauty, an extremely fun-ar Keystone comedy. If you haven't seen today's show don't let snything keep you away from the Davis today. Five of the best vaudeville acts ever seen in Norwich are on the bill and four feature reels of photoplays including one funny Keystone comedy. Matines at 2.30. Atl seats 10c. Evening at 7 and 8.45, 10c, 15c and 20c.

SMASHING THE VICE TRUST. Great Moral Photoplay Coming to The Davis.

I wish that every girl and every mother of a girl in every city in the land might go to Weber's and see the petures. They give in two hours an education and enlightenment a woman might not receive else in a life time. We go home red-nosed and swollenged from the sorrows of Camille. Yet of from the sorrows of Camille. Yet Dumas heroine was but one. We see in The Smashing of the Vice Trust he certain fate of many girls, the possible fate of all. Burning before our eyes is the utterances of Stanley G. Finch, the investigator of social conditions: "No girl in the United States is safe from white slavery." The pictures show us how and why this is tures than in the light that warns us that a train is coming at high speed down the track. There is much that is good and necessary. See the ple-tures and save your home and others. This is part of what Ida Paterson. the foremost woman journalist in America said about Smashing the Vice picture during its long run at Weber's theatre, New York, and which will be shown at the Davis for three days only beginning Thursday, March 16th, three shows daily. Prices 10c, 15c and 25c.

COLONIAL THEATIRE.

Through the Storm, Two Reel Railroad Story with Francis Bushmann,

The large number of patrons of the Coloniel theatre who saw yesterday, The Hour and the Man, and Francis Bushmann in his wonderful work in this picture will be delighted to learn he will be again the here of today's two reel special entitled Through the Storm, a superb and thrilling rail-road story. He and his wife and child live at a flag station along the tracks, and he is railway lineman. He dis-covers a plot between tramps to blow mp the trestle three miles away, and wreck the fiver. A railway motor is stolen from his shack by the tramps, who attack him and leave him for dead. He survives, and with a broken dead. He survives, and with a broken less climbs to the top of a telegraph pole, and cutting the wires, sends the message to the terminal that saves the flyer, and gives him a retired and honorable place for life. The Misadhonorable place for life. The Misadhonorable place for life. The six the title of the screaming Vitagraph comedy that features John Bunny and Wiora Finch. To say that it is a howling success expresses it middly Granding success expresses it middly Granding storess expresses it mildly, Grand-daddy's Boy is a story of youth com-forting age and the balance of the bill is of superiative merit.

Antony & Cleopatra, World's Motographic Masterpiece at Auditorium. In presenting to Norwich audiences such magnificent productions as Quo Vadis and Antony & Cleopatra, the Auditorium is educating the theatrégoing public into a taste for the best, and also setting the motion picture art on a higher plane. Such pictures as mentioned above are never the merk of adverse criticism, and thay are praised by ministers of all denominations, and well known educators notunity urge their scholars to see these productions as they teach more actual history than all the printed hooks ever published. books ever published.

graph record of the ordinary popular song for from 30c to $1.00, but if you want a record by Caruso or Melba it will cost you from $3.00 to $6.00, yet "It's only a record." There is a difference. The prices for this attraction are: Balcony 15c, orchestra 25c. The entire lower floor is reserved for the evening performances. Seats are now on sale. Mail and telephone orders filled. The performance lasts 2 hours and 20 minutes, and will be given twice daily, at 2.30 and 8.00 p. m.

Original All Star Production of "Fine Feathers."

Never before have so many real stars been seen in a single modern play as H. H. Frazee will present in play as H. H. Frazee will present in his production of Fine Feathers, last season's biggest dramatic sensation on Broadway, which comes to the Lyceum theatre. New London, Wednesday, March 25, matinee and night.

The notable company includes Tully Mershall, Wilton Lackaye, Max Figman, Rose Coghlan, Florence Rockwell, Lydia Dickson and others. Even without this combination of fine dramatic talent Fine Feathers would be one of the most important dramatic offerings of the season; but with its dis-of the most important dramatic offer-ings of the season; but with its dis-tinguished east intact, and with its perfect production, it is easily the red letter theatrical event of a long time. The play held New York spellbound during its run of 150 nights at the Astor theatre, and established a new record for attendance in Chicago dur-ing a stay of six months at the Cort theatre.

a fine portrayal of the difficult role of the wife; Lydia Dickson contributes a capital character portrayal and the other parts are in the original hands. The combination of big play, fine production and star cast should result in a performance to be long and pleasantly remembered by those who witness it.

All star casts are a rarity=on the stage. Once in a great while they are gathered for special engagements in New York; but when they are taken on the road only one of the original company may be retained, while the rest of the cast is made up of lesser lights. More often an entirely inferior company is made up for the less favored cities away from Broadway. But the case is different with Fine Feath-ers, which comes to Lyceum theatre, records in New York, Chicago, Phila-delphia and Boston, comes here with its wonderful all star cast intact. The brilliant company still includes Tully
Marshall, Wilton Lackaye, Max Figman, Rose Coglitan, Florence Rockwell and Lydia Dickson—a group of stellar actors who made Fine Feathers the most talked of dramatic sensation of the generation. H. H. Frazce, pro-ducer of Fine Feathers, has been able to keep his remarkable company together for several months beyond the metropolitan engagements and New London is one of the few cities to be given a view of the all star production
